Demolition of farm house raises concerns

by Jerry Grozelle

The thought of demolishing a century-old home doesn't sit well with some people around Minden.

Speaking for several groups and individuals, Linnea Baynton of the Friends of Minden Hills and the Haliburton Highlands addressed the Minden Hills Environment and Public Works Committee in regard to the disposition of the heritage house on the Minden Business Park property.

"We are here because rumours have been flying about the township going to tender for the demolition of the heritage house on or adjoining the industrial park," Baynton said. "Before the meeting when we talked about this with some council members, there was a lot of 'I didn't know that' on both sides. We would like to ascertain the facts and share some information."

Baynton said it is understood that the municipality wants and needs to get on with the sale of the business park property and she told members of the committee that the goal is to work with council to come up with an "everyone wins" solution that meets the needs for progress as well as protects a heritage building.

The building in question is known by some as the White house. It is the red brick farmhouse at the corner of Prince Street and Highway 35. The old barn that was a Minden landmark for many years and was torn down a couple of years ago, was part of the old homestead.

Some history of the White house, which was gathered from local historians John Hulbig and Dick Kirkwood, as well as information obtained from the County Town Museum, was presented to the committee.

- * the house was built some time between 1900 and 1905

- * It was built with bricks from the old Minden Brick Works

- * It was built for Frank Wilson, who owned one of the largest farms in the area

- * Dick Kirkwood installed the painted metal roofing in 1924. The roofing was a new product at the time

- * Frank Gartshore, the head of the Gull River Lumber Company, owned the property for some time

- * The house was later owned by the Whites, which is how it became known as the White house

Baynton outlined what she thought were four options for the house.

One is to tear it down and lose everything connected with it. The second option is to tear it down and salvage as ADMIRING THE BLOOMS: Visitors to the annual Minden and District Horticultural Society Show in Minden had lots to look at this year as the event attracted a record number of entries.

Annual flower show attracts record number of entries

The first thing visitors noticed was the pleasant odour wafting from the exhibition room at the Minden Community Centre. Next was the broad expanse of tables with hundreds of neatly arranged displays. And finally, the cascade of colour of fresh blooms that filled the room caught the eye.

A record number of entrants participated in this year's Minden and District Horticultural Society's Annual Flower and Vegetable Show held Thursday and Friday at the Minden Community Centre. "We had more entrants than last year," May Stevenson co-convenor of the show said. "A total of 461 entries were registered."

May suggested that the size of the show reflects the enthusiastic membership of the organization, now standing at over 250.

"This is our best show in years," Lorna Rolland, who shared the convenor duties, commented. "The judge, Gloria Spellman, from Cannington, commented that some of the entries were of 'exhibition quality'."

This year's top entrant was Chris Postlethwaite of Haliburton who had the most points over-all with 89. Second spot went to Ev Trepanier with 70, while third spot was shared by Marion Hill and May Stevenson with 42 points. May Stevenson also won the award for the most points won by a first time exhibitor.

Complete results from this year's show will appear in next week's edition of The Times.

SIDEWALK SHOPPING: There were plenty of bargains to be had on the street Friday as Minden merchants moved their displays outside for the community's annual Sidewalk Sale. Even the weather co-operated, providing ideal conditions for the bargain hunting shoppers.

Municipality examines draft sign policy for area roads

The following items were discussed at Minden Hills committee meetings held Thursday, August 9.

A draft policy regulating the installation of signs on municipal roads was presented to the Minden Hills Environment and Public Works Committee at Thursday's meeting. The three former municipalities which now comprise Minden Hills had different, or no set policies, regarding sign installation.

The draft policy states that the cost and installation of all regulatory signs on municipal roads will be the responsibility of the municipality. Regulatory signs include stop signs, street name signs, speed limit signs, yield signs and others.

Requests for the installation of all non-regulatory signs on municipal roads must be made in writing and addressed to the Environment and Public Works Committee. Non-regulatory signs include hidden entrance, dead end, private roads, children playing, among others. The municipality will be responsible for the placement of all non-regulatory signs. The responsibility for the cost of non-regulatory signs and posts will be determined by the Environment and Public Works Committee on an individual basis.

Previously, the Anson, Hindon and Minden Roads Department installed all regulatory signs, while the Municipality supplied and installed non-regulatory signs that were approved by the Roads Committee. Lutterworth's policy was similar except that non-regulatory signs and posts were supplied by the proponents and installed by the municipality. Snowdon did not have a set policy and handled each request on an as-needed basis.

Roads Department report

In a memo to the Environment and Public Works

Committee, Roads Superintendent Kevin Hill outlined what had been done in June and July and gave a brief synopsis of what he expects to be done in August.

Hill noted:

- All roads were graded at least once, some twice
- Calcium applications were completed by June 28
- 800 feet of culvert has been replaced
- Beaver dams were removed and culverts were cleaned as required
- Church Road was ripped up, ditched and new gravel applied
- Construction of Blairhampton Road was started. Rocks and logs were removed, some culverts replaced and ditching was started.
- Scheduled for August were:
 - Completion of Blairhampton Road repairs — culverts, ditching and gravel
 - Surface treatment of Blairhampton Road is slated to begin on August 27
 - Cleaning of culverts and removal of beaver dams as required
 - Haulage of 'A' gravel for surface treatment on Blairhampton Road.

Agnes Jamieson Gallery

New work added to Lapine collection

by Jack Brezina, Editor

It was a bit like Christmas at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery last week.

The festive atmosphere was the result of a new addition to the Gallery's collection of Andre Lapine paintings.

Lady with a Rose, a delicate drawing in pencil, coloured pencil with water colour accents, is the latest acquisition, the 53rd to be exact.

The Gallery already has what is recognized as the largest single collection of work by the Canadian/Latvian painter. However, there is always an interest in acquiring more.

"We were informed that this drawing would be going up for auction last weekend," curator Diane Graham said. Through the generosity of some of the Gallery Committee members, she was able to attend and bid on the work.

"I haven't been to many auctions but this one was pretty nerve-wracking," Diane admits. "There were a number of interested buyers, but in the end it came down to just two, and the gallery was successful." The painting was purchased for $580.

The auction was held at the home of Tony Aymong and Carol Moffatt.

The drawing, dated and signed in 1939, shows a woman standing in the garden examining a rose on a vine. The rose and some petals on the ground have red accents and there are other touches of colour in the work, but most of the work is in pencil.

The work is a sharp departure from the majority of the gallery's Lapine holdings. Most of those pieces are oil paintings with large bold themes, often with towering cloud formations and broad expanses. The Lady With The Rose is an intimate, almost personal, piece of work. "I would really like to know who that woman is," Graham said, suggesting there was an interesting story behind the painting.

"We are happy to accept donations of any Lapine work," Graham said. "Many people are interested in our collection of his work and would like to see it grow."

The newest acquisition is proudly on display until September 2, along with a number of other Lapines on loan from private collections. Following the show, the painting will be rematted and some restoration work will be done on the frame.

Also on display are two silver bracelets, created by Andre Lapine for the wife of a friend and her daughter in Guelph. The bracelets were given to Minnie Emma Fowler and her daughter Freda Fowler in the 1940s.

Valerie Jackson of Guelph, granddaughter of Minnie Fowler, learned about the Lapine collection in Minden and drove here recently and presented the gallery with the two engraved bracelets. The two pieces of jewellery are on display along with a selection of Lapine paintings.

The exhibition, along with a display of photographs from the Minden area (see story in this week's edition of SummerTimes), continues until September 2.

Diane Graham examines the Agnes Jamieson Gallery's latest acquisition, Lady with a Rose, by Andre Lapine. This pencil drawing is the fifty-third Lapine work held by the gallery.

PRE-PLANNING... A THOUGHTFUL WAY OF CARING

When you die, your loved ones will have to deal not only with their sorrow and loss in your passing, but also with the many details and decisions required in planning your funeral arrangements.

By caring enough to pre-plan these arrangements you can ease the burden of your family during this difficult time. With pre-planning, you specify arrangements that might have otherwise caused sadness, confusion, even differences of opinion among family members. You make the choices - even determine the cost - involved in your funeral; bringing peace of mind to yourself and your family with the knowledge that they will not have to decide what your wishes might have been.

Planning for the future is logical, wise and caring.
Don't let this important time be an exception.

It is nature's own disinfection/purification method. Ultraviolet is a means of killing or rendering harmless microorganisms in a dedicated environment. These microorganisms can range from bacteria and viruses to algae and protozoa. A major advantage of UV treatment is that it is capable of disinfecting water faster than chlorine without cumbersome retention tanks and harmful chemicals. UV treatment systems are also extremely cost efficient. As individual UV lamps emit a set amount of ultraviolet energy, it is important that a system be sized correctly.

TD Canada Trust Is Here

Building a better bank for you.

A Thank You To All TD Canada Trust Customers

Now that our two operations have joined together, we're able to offer strength in mutual funds, a wide array of financial services, as well as an extensive branch and ABM network. Our goal is to deliver on our well-earned reputation for customer service and leadership in telephone and Internet banking services.

In other words, our integration has not simply been about uniting two organizations. It's also about delivering on a new vision of customer service to Canadians.

We have been working hard to ensure that when our operations came together, two important goals would be met. First, there would be a maximum of benefit to our customers and employees. Second, there would be a minimum of disruption in service.

Following the weekend's integration, you may initially experience some temporary delays in service. Please rest assured that we will correct any service problems as quickly as possible.

We thank you for your continued loyalty. And we also wish to thank our employees. They worked long and hard to make the integration process a success.

Preserving the past

Editorial

Heritage can often be an ethereal thing. One minute it appears the community is chock-a-block with old buildings and markers of historical significance and just a short time later those things have been destroyed, papered over, rebuilt, altered or torn down. The community always loses something when a structure of historical value is altered. Whatever is gone represents a link to the past, a visual reminder of the community's roots.

That is no doubt one of the main reasons individuals become concerned when they hear the future of an old building is threatened. Such was the case last week as a delegation of Minden residents asked the municipality to take a closer look at the options available for the farm house, known as the White House, at the corner of Highway 35 and Prince Street. The committee presented the councillors with some interesting background on the home, dating its construction to the beginning of the last century. It was suggested that the bricks used in its construction came from the nearby Minden Brick Works. A series of owners and inhabitants add to the building's heritage value as does its visibility to the many motorists passing on Highway 35. (One need only recall the comments that followed the demolition of the nearby barn which was on the same property. Many of those who commented on its loss were not even residents of the community, but rather regular passers-by who enjoyed seeing the familiar landmark on their journeys along Highway 35.)

Today, it is hard to say whether, indeed, the home in question has a similar recognition value. Certainly its location makes it highly visible, but whether it has attracted a "following" such as the barn had, is unknown. Like heritage, one never knows how important something is until it is gone.

While we agreed that the removal or demolition of any heritage structure deserves careful scrutiny, we suggest that everything that is old does not automatically have some intrinsic value. If we preserved "everything" just because it comes from another era, the community would be a cluster of ramshackle log cabins and precarious lean-tos. Just as there is value in preserving the past, there can be reasons for allowing change to occur. The trick is balancing the two perspectives.

At this point we are not sure if the White house is, in fact, worth preserving. What we do know is that the case for protecting it should be heard and considered carefully. Any decision should include not only the immediate heritage value, but the significance of the structure to the community as a whole and a plan for its use and preservation if it is found to be a valuable part of this community. These factors should be evaluated against the potential use of the site.

Whatever the decision, it won't be easy, especially since one proposed course of action is irreversible.

Emergency illustrates the need for 9-1-1

Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to several people who were, in my opinion, instrumental in saving my husband from what could have been a fatality.

On Sunday, August 5, my husband hit his head on a rock ledge while diving off our dock in front of the cottage while playing with the kids. The next thing I knew, his face and the dock were covered in blood. As I ran for the phone to call an ambulance, our neighbours got him out of the water and proceeded to bandage his head with towels.

In a panic, I dialed 9-1-1 only to remember this service does not exist for us. I then dialed the operator from our rotary phone where I was connected with a voice message asking me to press 1, 2 etc. I had to listen to this message twice before I was finally connected with an operator. When I finally reached emergency services, I made the quick decision to transport him by boat to the Noble Motel on Highway 35, because the way he was bleeding I was sure he would not make it if the ambulance would have to come in by road. By the time we arrived at the dock of the Noble Motel, the ambulance was already waiting for us. From there he was in good hands from the care he received from the paramedics and the quick care and response time from the hospital staff. As it turned out, today he is still alive, but could not have been. The doctor said he is very lucky. A special thank you goes out to the numerous people who worked on committees to make the hospital and ambulance services happen and to all the persons who have donated to the hospital building fund. I know we have.

Our emergency services are only as good as the tools they are provided with and those include communications and accessibility. The longer emergency services take to service one call, the longer it is out of service for the next. Our cottage is on the south end of Moore Lake, which is accessed by a township road off Buller Road or off East Moore Lake Road. However, despite 30 years of petitioning the township, they have refused to assume maintenance of the road.

It would have taken a minimum of 60 minutes for an ambulance to reach us by road. I shudder to think what could have been if we had to wait for that ambulance to arrive by road. This is not the first emergency we have faced requiring emergency services. When our family members bought the cottage they were looking down the road to a time when they would be elderly and would still not have to worry about such things. For this reason, they are careful to buy property which was deemed to be serviced by the township. Today my mother-in-law is not able to come to the cottage due to the heat and a bad heart, knowing that services are not available in an emergency.

The lion speaks up

It was late on a winter evening and I was prowling through the darkened bush, weapon in hand, searching for the biggest of all big game - an African lion.

Well, it wasn't that melodramatic. This bush was full of huge, half-acre animal enclosures; my weapon was a Sony tape recorder and my guide was Brian Keating, curator of the Calgary Zoo that we were prowling through. We were trying to capture animal sounds that we could use in a radio program about the zoo and Brian figured there was a pretty good chance the resident lion would roar for us — if we were patient.

We found the lion enclosure. The male lion, a bleary-eyed old feller with a Bob Marley hairdo, was lolling just behind the wire mesh fence, sound asleep. He opened one eye at our approach, found us neither edible nor significant, and closed it. Five minutes. Ten minutes. Not a movement.

We stood there, me holding out a microphone like a lollipop bribe, the lion snoring. Fifteen minutes.

I turned to Brian and said, "Look, Brian this isn't going to w..." And that's when my brain melted and the bottom dropped out of my stomach. The lion had somehow, in the space of a nanosecond, gone from flat out sleeping to full four-legged alert. He had also let out a - well, my tape recorder later confirmed that it was a 'roar', but it was a roar I never heard. I felt it. I felt like I'd shaken hands with a 50,000-volt live wire.

Was I scared? Hell, yes. As scared as I've ever been—but I didn't run. I stood my ground. I had to. I was paralyzed. But for a ten-foot high wire mesh fence, I would have been an hors d'oeuvre that night.

This happened to me about ten years ago, and I've never gotten over how utterly helpless I felt when that lion stoned me cold. At least not until I read an article about some animal behaviour researchers at the Fauna Communication Research Institute in North Carolina.

They've been studying tigers and they've discovered that the modus operandum of the beast is what they call 'infrasound manipulation'. They've determined that the tiger emits a low-pitched growl so deep that human beings can't even hear it. But they feel it. And so does whatever the tiger is planning to put on the dinner menu that evening.

The tiger mixes these infrasound growls with the roar that we do hear and the result is temporary paralysis - even among experienced trainers who've worked with the cats for years. "It's an incredible force coming at you," says a Fauna Research spokesman.

"When they roar, tigers often move at great speed from lying down to straight up. During that time, you never have any thoughts of running away because you're so glued to the moment in time."

I believe it - because I know a mangy old African lion in the Calgary Zoo that can sing the same tune. It's a tune you don't want to hear - even if you could.

NEW SIGN FAMILIAR FACES:
For most people, the change was subtle and probably unseen. However, the long-awaited formal merger of TD Bank and Canada Trust officially took place August 4. For those who notice these things, the signs at the Minden branch of the former TD bank took on a new name and colours, however the friendly staff behind the counter remained the same. Marking the transition last week were TD Canada Trust staff members, from the left, Michelle Davis, Diane Tigert, Branch Manager Joanne Camelon, Heike Roome, Gail Kent, Winona Wray, Laurie Watson, Martha Waind, Barbara Cameron and Stephanie Crowe.

Minden area girls place first and second in equestrian competition

Two Minden area girls finished first and second at a horse "eventing" competition in Port Perry recently.

Kourtney Matysek, 14, of Halls Lake, riding her horse Northern Express, earned first place in a field of 40 competitors from as far away as the United States.

Katlyn Hewson, 15, of Minden, riding her horse, Northern Escapade, took second place in the same field of competitors.

The two local girls only started to compete in the discipline of "eventing" late in the season last year. This was just the third such event in which they competed. Eventing consists of three disciplines of riding — dressage, stadium jumping and cross-country. A disqualification in any of the three regimens eliminates a rider from the competition.

After completion of all three sections, the points are totalled to determine the winner.

The two girls are planning to participate in several more competitions this season.

Another hole-in-one at Blairhampton

Blairhampton Golf Course recorded another hole-in-one recently.

Norbert Rock of Toronto aced the 163-yard 17th hole from the white tees, using a five iron.

The feat was witnessed by golfing companions Dr. Jordan Fraser, Russ Donely and Mike Manning.

DYNAMIC DUO: Kourtney Matysek (right) and Katlyn Hewson placed first and second, respectively, at an equestrian event in Port Perry recently. The two Minden area girls just started competing in this type of event late last year. In just their third such competition, the local dynamic duo has risen to the top of the ranks.

Ignoring the heat

In spite of the exceptionally hot weather on August 5, a group of cottagers from lakes in Algonquin Highlands got together, formed four teams and played a couple of abbreviated games of lob ball. The photo above, of one of the players connecting with a swing, is from one of the games at Stanhope Park. By the end of the games, players were ready for a cold drink and a dip in the lake.

pacts. Research indicates that shredder fluff is a viable cover material although its use is not common in Eastern Region.

The National Research Council of Canada has supported landfill applications of ASR and has identified a number of desirable characteristics. The material has been approved as a non-hazardous waste and the site is well monitored with appropriate sampling parameters. I see no problem with the use of ASR material at this site."

Monitoring of other contaminants has determined both the Irondale and Lochlin dumps are in compliance with MOE guidelines and fall within "reasonable use limits."

Shredder fluff is described as seats and other components from vehicles which have been shredded into small pieces.

Winter maintenance

Minden Hills Roads Superintendent Kevin Hill was asked to identify and inventory the location and length of roads within the municipality that are currently summer maintained. He was also directed to provide an estimate of the cost to plow those sections of road in the winter months.

Hill identified parts of 21 roads, totaling 20.3 kilometres. Citing actual costs to plow 0.7 kilometres of Forresters Road ($1,482.85) and 1.6 kilometres of the Upper Dutch Line Road ($2,075), he estimated that the cost to plow those sections of road to be $33,736.79.

Hill noted that the cost estimate applied to snow plowing only. Maintenance, such as sanding, culvert thawing and storm damage repairs, would incur additional costs.

The estimate was based on all summer maintained roads, as directed by council. No consideration was given to whether or not any residences were in use on these roads during the winter months.

Councillor Ingram Wessell, who is in favour of winter maintenance of some of these roads to provide year-round access for some seasonal residents, noted that not all of the sections of road listed would need to be maintained since there are no residences on them. He also pointed out that the municipality is already paying for plowing and sanding of some of the roads, which would further reduce the projected costs.

"It is a good report as far as it goes," said Councillor Peter Oyler, "but it doesn't go far enough." Oyler suggested that an estimate of the total cost, including culvert maintenance and sanding, would be of more value in assessing the viability of maintaining these roads during the winter months.

Public Works Superintendent Clayton Cameron noted that those costs would be difficult to estimate.

Oyler questioned the wisdom of adding to the budget that has already been set. Wessell countered that the resurfacing of IGA Road in Minden, at a cost of $8,500, was not in the budget.

Another concern voiced about winter plowing was the fact that some of the summer maintained roads do not have locations suitable for a municipal plow truck to turn around.

More information is needed before any decision can be made, including which roads should be plowed, which can be plowed with municipal equipment and which would have to be contracted.

A more detailed report will be provided for the next meeting.

Out with the bad

The hazardous waste day, held on August 4 at the Scotch Line dump in Minden Hills and the Pine Springs dump in Algonquin Highlands, exceeded all expectations. Public Works Superintendent Clayton Cameron said he didn't have the complete figures, but he noted that the Scotch Line site collected 4,000 litres of used motor oil, 4,800 litres of gas and thinners, 2,000 litres of latex and 560 litres of paint. He said he would have a complete list for the next many significant architectural features as possible. Those features could include the bricks, windows, 80 year old metal roofing and interior fixtures.

A third option would be to move the house. Baynton said that possibility was investigated unofficially about a year ago by a member of the museum committee. The conclusion at that time was that such a move was technically feasible. She noted that there is room at the museum site for the house and that it would meet the age criteria.

The fourth option, one which the delegation to the committee meeting seemed to favour more than the others, is to sell the house with the property, to a buyer who would restore it and use it as a place of business.

Baynton suggested that the reason potential local buyers have not stepped forward is the belief that the house was slated for demolition and that restoration was not an option. She said that she knows of at least two local parties who have expressed an interest in buying the property and restoring the house as a business.

It was noted that the municipality has an interested potential buyer. However, the survey being considered would put the property line through the middle of the house. If that scenario goes through, the building would have to be demolished or moved.

Paul Baynton asked if there was a time frame in which a committee interested in preserving the structure might be able to either find a heritage friendly buyer or raise the necessary funding and arrange to have it moved. He said there are government funding programs which might be available for such a project. He added that it would be a good thing to maintain a reflection of the past along the Highway 35 corridor.

The delegation was told that although there has been interest shown in the property no concrete offer has yet been made. It was also made known that the potential buyer has no use for the house.

Councillor Ingram Wessell suggested that if a group decided to proceed with plans to preserve the building, some form of deadline should be set to ensure that the building is either restored or moved. Otherwise, he said, it could remain there for years and continue to deteriorate.

The total size of the parcel of land on which the house stands is 2.23 acres. The current proposal would sever the parcel into two lots.

The consensus was that if a group is serious about preserving the building, a plan of action must be formulated immediately.

Pat Campbell summed up the delegation's feelings when she said, "We don't have all that many heritage buildings left. We should preserve what we have."

MEGA BINGO!

Let the games begin: fund-raising with a twist

--submitted--

Non profit organizations of the Haliburton Highlands campaign annually raise money for their organizations' activities and sustainability. It seems that everywhere organizations have tables set up for raffle ticket selling. Consider how many hours and how much work your organization does to set up an annual raffle, find the appropriate volunteers and such. Well, there is a two and a half hour solution to fund-raising.

There is an event each summer that is run by the Sunny Rock Bed & Breakfast that could assist your organization's fund-raising efforts. To be a benefactor, a non-profit organization should call Sally Moore to see if your organization qualifies. If it does, it's then simply a matter of promoting the event among the organization's supporters.

Each participant should come prepared to make a financial and prize table donation and have the name of a favorite non-profit organization in mind. Each person attending the event can specify which organization he or she hopes will benefit from the proceeds of the evening. The more ballots submitted for an organization the more probability of winning 50% of the donations.

At the end of the evening, two ballots will be drawn out of a box and those groups will share in the proceeds.

This is the sixth year for the Loonie Extravaganza. In that time it has benefited the following organizations:

- The Haliburton Highlands Health Services Foundation
- The Tim Heming Bursary Fund
- SIRCH
- Local Branches of the Canadian Cancer Society
- The Heart and Stroke
- The Women's Emergency House, when it was operating
- The YWCA Women's Emergency Services in recent years.

When people arrive without a non profit organization in mind the participants supply a list from which they can choose. Is your organization represented on this list?

The Loonie Extravaganza is an adult social evening. This year, the event will be held on Thursday, August 16 at the Sunny Rock Bed & Breakfast (off County Road #1 at the end of the Scott's Dam Road). Participants are asked to arrive before 6:30 p.m. to register, make financial and prize table donations and to tell which non-profit organization they are playing for and supporting.

The games begin at 6:30 sharp with a short group activity guaranteed to make you laugh. Following is a brief explanation of the timing and objectives of the event and the evening begins when Sally says "So let the games begin." The hustle and bustle of activity becomes outrageously fun and one group's laughter is only interrupted by another collection of people's burst of laughter.

The 60 games, of no more than 30 to 90 seconds in duration, are created for people of all abilities. More than 40 of the games are non physical and non threatening. The remaining ones are moderately physical. The activity itself will not raise your car-

The last part of the evening will take place either in or on the deck of the Pine Studio. Each participant is asked to bring a "like new" gift for the prize table. This portion of the evening and the council meeting.

It was pointed out that the attendants were very helpful.

Reeve Ross Rigney said it is not too soon to start thinking about setting a date for next year's hazardous waste day.

Landfill services report

Greg Watson, who has been contracted to provide landfill services for all of the Minden Hills landfill sites, attended the Environment and Public Works Committee meeting to bring the committee up to date on how operations have been since he took over a couple of months ago.

The only glitch so far was at the Little Gull dump on Deep Bay Road. The scheduled opening on one morning was delayed by about an hour, causing a back-up of a dozen vehicles and several complaints. Watson explained that he was scheduled to open the site himself that morning but he was at another site where burning operations were under way and he could not leave the fire unattended.

Watson suggested a ramp at the recycling bins at the Ingoldsby dump, to provide better access. He noted that extended hours are in effect at the Lochlin dump and that recycling facilities at the Little Gull site have been vastly improved.

Councillor Bill Obee asked if anything could be done to control the yellow jackets around recycling bins. Watson said the wasps are attracted to the sweet substances at the bins. "As long as there are pop cans and pop, they (the wasps) will be there," he said.

Watson noted that there have been some problems with users producing their dump access cards. It has been made clear that the cards must be produced at each visit and the problem seems to be working itself out.

"It's not a big problem," Watson said.

Highway 35 realignment

Concerns about the proposed realignment of Highway 35 north of Minden have been received by members of council.

Councillor Peter Oyler noted that the municipality has no input into the design, but if Minden Hills taxpayers have concerns that are justified, municipal officials should support their appeals to the provincial government.

"It is a provincial responsibility," Oyler pointed out, adding that concerns should be addressed to the Ministry of Transportation and/or MPP Chris Hodgson.

9-1-1 open house

A 9-1-1 information meeting is being arranged for August 24 at the Minden Community Centre. The open house will inform the public about the progress to date. The event is scheduled from 3 to 9 p.m.

Not responsible

A sewer back-up that occurred at Dollo's IGA was not the responsibility of the municipality, the Environment and Public Works Committee says. Owners of the IGA suggested that a clean-out was broken when the IGA Road was resurfaced and that was the cause of the back-up. Public Works Superintendent Clayton Cameron told the committee that the clean-out was repaired immediately and that the back-up occurred several weeks after the repairs had been done. He also noted that the blockage was found to be between the IGA building and the clean-out in question and the clean-out was downhill from the blockage.

"If the blockage was caused by the IGA Road repairs, it would have caused a back-up at the clean-out that had been broken and was repaired," Cameron said.

Considering the fact that the sewer line is on a downhill grade from the IGA building, Councillor Ron Buchanan pointed out that the obvious, that "water doesn't flow uphill" and suggesting that the back-up was not because of the broken clean-out.

Casual dress Fridays?

During the Minden Hills Personnel Committee meeting, Councillor Ron Buchanan suggested that consideration be given to a casual dress Fridays program for employees at the municipal office.

"It would be a bit of a morale boost and it wouldn't cost us a cent," Buchanan said.

The idea of "casual" may have been interpreted differently by council members.

"Staff members deal with the public every day and they should look respectable every day," said Councillor Ingram Wessell.

"Staff is always dressed respectably," Buchanan said.

Councillor Peter Oyler agreed that a casual day could be a morale booster. "I think it's a good idea," Oyler said, adding that such a program has shown to boost morale in both the business and government sectors.

It was also noted that as long as it is tastefully done, there should be no negative response by people visiting the municipal office on such days. In some instances, employees participating in a casual dress day make a small donation to charity.

Councillor Bill Obee noted he thought the staff already dresses casually (as opposed to formal attire).

The issue will be referred to the Labour-Management Committee.

Stay cool, stay healthy:

Don't let the heat make you sick

Summer is definitely here!! The warm temperatures are a welcome relief to some after the long winter but a forecast for soaring temperatures and high humidity poses potential health risks, especially to the elderly.

When air temperatures rise, older adults are at risk because aging reduces the body's ability to cool off. Normal aging reduces effectiveness of the body's defense mechanisms by raising the temperature threshold for sweating, thirst and heat-related discomfort. This situation can result in heat illness.

Heat exhaustion and heat stroke are a threat to the elderly, as well as the young, when they are exposed to excessive heat. Heat stroke is especially dangerous and can even be life-threatening. Heat related deaths are tragic because they can nearly always be prevented. Excessive heat can also impair judgment and cause confusion, so precautions must be taken before you get too hot.

Heat exhaustion is a less severe form of heat injury and occurs when the body is too hot. Symptoms of heat exhaustion include excessive thirst, profuse sweating, muscle cramps, dizziness, vomiting, fatigue and fainting. The skin usually feels cold and clammy to the touch.

Heat stroke is the most serious form of heat-related illness. Symptoms of heat stroke include confusion, combativeness, strong rapid pulse, dry skin or lack of sweating and possible delirium or unconsciousness. Individuals experiencing any of these symptoms must seek immediate medical attention at a hospital emergency department. The onset of this stage can be rapid with progression to a life threatening state within minutes.

To help avoid heat-related illness, and survive the heat this summer, take note of the following tips:

- Drink plenty of fluids, even if you are not thirsty. Plain water is the best source.
- Dress in light-weight, light-coloured, loose-fitting clothing.
- Avoid mid-morning to mid-afternoon heat and do not engage in vigorous activity during the hottest part of the day. If you are outdoors, ensure that you have ample shade for your protection.
- Bathing or swimming in tepid water is a good cooling technique.

Although older adults need to be extra careful in hot weather, young adults and children also need to take precautions with the heat while enjoying summer in Haliburton County.

Horses help to clear the trail for Frost Centre visitors

--submitted--

Re-development of the Forest Management Interpretive Trail at the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre came one step closer to completion July 24. On that day Gerald Cook and his two Belgian horses cleared trees from the trail in order to demonstrate some of the current forest management practices.

The Forest Management Interpretive Trail is a 1.5 km self-guided loop with sixteen numbered interpretive stops along the length of the trail. Each of the sixteen sites illustrates a specific forest management practice or principle. The trail is frequently utilized and appreciated by elementary, secondary, college and university students, as well as by the general public. In fact, anyone who wants to learn more about ecological practices and who is interested in ensuring the continued good health of forest ecosystems is welcomed to take advantage of the trail's free access.

The forest is a living dynamic system. As it grows and matures, the forest management strategies applied to ensure its continued health must be selected appropriately. In this region, horse logging is one of the options available to forest managers.

Using horses in place of heavy machinery can result in less damage to the remaining forest. It is an impressive sight to watch owner and logger Gerald Cook expertly control and direct the two massive Belgian horses by a series of shouts, hoots, and whistles. The team of three, the two horses and Gerald, make the removal of felled trees through the forest look easy. However logging with horses requires a skilled hand, finesse and years of experience. It appears that there is a renewed interest in this practice from the past and the beneficiary of the increased popularity of horse logging is the forest itself.

Gerald Cook and his team of Belgian Horses work their way through the bush at the Leslie M. Frost Centre, north of Minden. The horses were used to clear a portion of one of the many interpretive trails at the centre.

Contact the Education Coordinators at the Frost Centre (705-766-2451) to learn more about the Forest Management Interpretive Trail

Request for Expression of Interest

Delivery of Educational Programs

The Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) intends to conduct a competitive process to identify consultants that are qualified in delivering educational programs at the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre (Dorset).

The Frost Centre, located 12 kilometres south of the village of Dorset, is a public education and training centre dedicated to providing quality learning experiences. The educational programs are designed to foster a better understanding of natural resource management. Frost Centre clients include elementary, secondary, college and university students, as well as educators, government staff and special interest groups.

The MNR is requesting that potential consultants attend an optional on-site information session. The session will identify the requirements and provide an opportunity for potential consultants to express their interest in submitting a proposal for the subsequent competitive process. Parties that express an interest in this project will be added to a list of invitees to the request for proposal process.

The on-site information session will be held Monday, August 20, 2001 at 6:00 p.m. at which time the terms and conditions of the contract will be provided in detail.

Those consultants that are unable, or choose not to attend the information session, may request a copy of the request for proposal package by telephone or fax (see numbers below). Consultants selected to provide their services will be required to obtain a liability insurance policy that protects the instructor and the Crown from all claims. Please note that the terms of the contract is one year, from October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002.

Cell phone safety

The following is submitted on behalf of the Haliburton County Tri-Services Committee that involves the cooperation of emergency services in Haliburton County. Some of the following information was obtained from the Ministry of Transportation of Ontario.

A cellular phone in your vehicle can be an effective tool and an invaluable safety feature linking you with the outside world, especially in areas such as Haliburton County where a telephone is not always readily available. Many people use their cellular phones to report accidents, fires or crimes.

It is important to note, however, that using a cellular phone in your vehicle can be a driving distraction. A cellular phone, like anything else, must be used properly. Currently there are no laws against using a cellular phone while driving. But, you can be charged with careless or dangerous driving if you cause an accident while using one.

Here are some important points on using a cellular phone safely:

- where possible, always pull over to the side of the road before using a cellular phone;
- use a hands-free microphone while driving. Keep your hands on the steering wheel and your eyes on the road. Taking your hands from the steering wheel while driving is dangerous;
- never take notes while driving. Pull off the road at a safe distance or wait until your vehicle is stopped or parked to dial a number or take a call;

- if it is not safe or convenient to take a cellular call while driving, let it ring. Allow the cellular voice mail/message center take a message from the caller;
- keep calls as brief as possible. Distracted drivers are more likely to make a driving error or react too slowly;

- for new cellular phone users, make sure you are comfortable and familiar with the phone before you use it in your vehicle. Learn how to operate your phone without looking at it and make sure the phone is easy to see and reach.

Be sure to use your cellular phone wisely and efficiently. With a cell phone, you know that if you, or anyone else needs help, it's just a phone call away.

Staying cool at Hyland Crest

Another week has gone and we are well into the month of August. It certainly has been hot lately! We have been fortunate here with air conditioning; it allows us to cope. Let us hope that by the time you read this we all will be enjoying more favourable temperatures and that rain will not be far off.

We did get a little dampening out at our BBQ last week but not enough to spoil our get-together. We really celebrated the opening of our gazebo in style. We were even featured in The Times last week. A good picture of all, don't you think?

A BBQ is always fun and the food always tastes so much better. Our entertainment was much enjoyed with two adorable clowns to bring us laughs, Muggins and Clarence. We did enjoy their antics. We also enjoyed the wonderful accordion playing of Audrey Sedley and say thank you for playing and spending the afternoon with us. Needless to say we thank Muggins and Clarence, along with our dietary and nursing staff and everyone who made the event possible. It was great fun.

More fun times have been had over the past few days. Earl Cooper and Kathleen Owens entertained us beautifully at our Happy Hour with quite a variety of music. What a joy with Earl playing the violin and Kathleen the piano. We want to say thank you. Pub Night was cancelled but we had a good time with a session of bingo. Our faithful volunteers Pearl and Sharon along with Connie were here to help out. They are great ladies with a wonderful sense of humour. Marjorie Watt with help from her son was the overall big winner. At one time Marjorie was spotted with a whole pile of chips in front of her, indicating how many times she had won. A couple of us managed to win a game now and then, but all had a fun evening.

Our card players seem to have had a week off. Rumour has it the little skunks have run off because they are afraid the big skunks are going to get them. We will have to keep you posted.

We were pleased to have Rev. Everall with us for Sunday Chapel Service with Anne McAdam kindly playing the organ. Rev. Burgess was also here for his afternoon visit, which so many look forward to. Our Tuesday Chapel Service with Rev. Wicks was made even more enjoyable as we appreciated Mrs. Wicks joining us to play the organ. Other residents who are unable to attend the regular service enjoy prayer friends with Maraylene. Thelda McGuire delighted us with Hymn Sing along with two young helpers Kristin and Kaitlin Campbell who were absolutely adorable. Our thanks to all these fine people: we are blessed with helpers.

Marjorie Watt was the lucky recipient of this week's Leisure Bath. We were told there were many oohs and ahs overheard, so we know, that like so many before her, Marjorie really enjoyed this special treat. We wonder who's next.

Senior League

by the Roving Reporters

Once again some of our exercises have been combined with trivia. One trivia was all about animals. This was much enjoyed by Mary Robinson, Hilda Gillespie, Winnie Barnum and Harriet Loucks. Another was all about different countries and what they are known for, an example, Australia and kangaroos, Cuba and cigars and so on. We had lots of fun with these. Another exercise session was with musical instruments, such as drums, tambourine shakers and bells. We make great music!

We are sorry to hear that Olive Wray and Ruth Williams are both in hospital. We are thinking of you both and hope you are feeling better soon.

Birthday greetings to Muriel Welch who celebrates August 15 and we hope you enjoy your special day.

Before we send this on, the Roving Reporters would like to thank Sheila Robb who assists each week in putting the Rovers news on paper. Sheila has been faithfully assisting the residents with Senior League for some years now and it is so wonderful to see her bright cheery smile every Tuesday. Thank you Sheila.

Another wonderful newsletter from former resident Rob Young. Our thanks to you. It always provides us with some interesting facts, great jokes etc. We look forward each month to the next one.

That's it folks, hope you all have a good week and we will leave you with this thought.

We could learn a lot from crayons: some are sharp, some are pretty, some are dull, some have weird names, and all are different colours.... But they all have to learn to live in the same box!

Around the County Town

by Nora Snyder (call 286-4450; email <mindenhouse@on.aibn.com>)

The forecast says that as you read this column the heat wave will have hit the dust!! Right now there is a lot of heat and a lot of dust.

I was up very early this morning. The sun hadn't risen yet, there wasn't a cloud in the sky and already it is 23 C or 72 F. We all have our heat stories and we are all wondering if it will end on Friday as 'they' say it will.

A cousin phoned last night from the city and was shocked that we were hot up here. I think he thinks we live in Utopia where nothing ever goes awry. Well, we are lucky of course and right now we are lucky to have our lakes handy for jumping into. I have spent a lot of time at my favourite 'swimming hole'.

What a shock to come home to the 'oven', as I now fondly call my home, after cooling off at the lake.

I will never forget coming home after seeing Tempus Fugit, in an air conditioned theatre and driving home in an air conditioned car, opening the kitchen door and feeling the heat engulf me. It literally did feel like an oven. Quite an experience we are going through!

Hard to believe the Highlands Summer Festival is over after a highly successful run. The quality of the performances was quite something. I was lucky enough to see three of the performances and thoroughly enjoyed all three. How privileged we are to have such talent in our midst and that they will share it with us. Here's wishing them and us many more years of Summer Festivals.

A sad note: Marg McAfee died this week. It was our privilege to know her. Her involvement with the Minden Legion was a joy in her life. That was the only complaint I ever heard from her. She was so happy being a part of that organization and she didn't want it to end. But Marg bore the burden of her illness bravely without complaint. In spite of our sadness at losing Marg, I am happy she has been able to lay her burden down.

"Yes, We Will Build a Pool in Haliburton County", the group working hard to get a pool to Haliburton County, is holding a "Hair-a-thon" on Saturday, August 25 at Mark's at Carnarvon from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Mark Christanio and Kendra Anderson have donated that day to put the money earned towards the efforts of the pool group. Mark and Kendra would appreciate appointments but if you just arrive and want to help out this great effort, your hair will be done!!

With all the swimming I have been doing during the heat wave I am reminded how good I feel when I swim. A swimming pool is almost an essential for a community. It helps so many for fitness, for confidence, for skill-building and fun!! We must have a pool here!! So there!!

It is the sixth annual Loonie Extravaganza, a fund-raising event for your favourite non-profit organization in our community. It is being held at Sunny Rock Bed and Breakfast and organized by the host Sally Moore on Thursday, August 16 at 6:30 p.m. The evening starts with Sally declaring "let the games begin" and lots of fun is then had by all. To learn more about this evening of fun and fund-raising please call Sally at 286-4922.

If you want to learn about "Building your Immune System", a HMS90 Glutathione Health Seminar with Nurse Judith Sewell will be held on Monday, August 20 at 2:00 p.m. at the Minden United Church on Newcastle Street. There will be a question period. Refreshments will be available.

I pray that as you are reading this edition of The Times you are sitting in the cool of the day!!

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the wonderful people in this town who have offered their condolences, support and kind words during the loss of my husband. I would like to personally thank an unknown couple who were in the restaurant when I got the call, I don't know who you are, but I will never forget you or the kindness you showed to a complete stranger. To Patti who made what was probably the hardest call of her life, thank you for not leaving him alone Pat. To my Mom for being my rock and not letting me give up. To my Dad for being gracious and understanding even when he didn't want to. To Larry for always being there when I need you most. To Dina for grieving right along with me. To Michelle and Todd and Sue and Mike for just doing what needed to be done and taking care of fur face. To Mary, Joe and Paula for always loving me. To Mark, Jane, Donna and Colin for your support and keeping me going and to Janea for being my shoulder to cry on again. But most of all I wish to thank the Minden O.P.P. and the members of the Volunteer Fire Department. You guys all went above and beyond the call of duty and it will never be forgotten. For those of you I have forgotten to name, you know who you are and just know that you have all touched our hearts and helped to make a tragic time a little easier. Dean was proud to know the people of this community and he would be touched to know how well you have all come together to support his family in their time of need. A special thank you to the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home for doing an outstanding job. Thanks again for everything. Love always,
Celina, Donny & Daniel Thrasher.
